

Competition in providing connections to internet and other digital services is essential to allow individual access to good service at a reasonable price.

Chairman Powell: Please require cable companies to allow access to other ISPs on their networks.